Monroe County Grand Jury Indicts Bradford M. Clark and Shain Maldonado for January Murder and Assault

Rochester, NY- On Tuesday, a Monroe County Grand Jury indicted Bradford M. Clark, 24, and Shain Maldonado, 36, on charges of Murder in the Second Degree and Assault in the First Degree for their alleged roles in events that occurred on Saturday, January 25th in the City of Rochester. On that date, the two are accused of stabbing Lee Probst, 32, and Hermes Almodovar, 19, on North Street. Probst died at Rochester General Hospital. Almodovar survived the attack.

Assistant District Attorneys Patrick Gallagher and Greg Colavecchia will prosecute the case for the People.

“This was a violent, senseless attack,” said Monroe County District Attorney Sandra Doorley. “Though the prosecution of the men who allegedly took his life can’t return Mr. Probst to his family, it can ensure that two violent criminals are taken off the streets and that our city is made safer.”

The two are currently held in the Monroe County Jail without bail. Their arraignments have not yet been scheduled.
